

ENVIRONMENT MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

ACCORDING TO ISO 14001:2004

POLICY OF ENVIRONMENT

Redaction: 01
Publication: 01

Confirmed:
/St. Borisov/
Date: 08.07.2009

In according with the requirements of the standard ISO 14001: 2004 the leadership of the EKIP Ltd. is committed to the achieve of the best practice applicable to the activities in the field of environmental protection with aim to minimize the potential negative on the environment, when and where it is practicable and applying mechanisms to ensure the stably progress of the company, by take actions for:

- Continuous improvement of the environmental condition of the company with programs directed at continuous management of activities affecting the environment;
- Monitoring and management of construction activities and to activities having a main logistics to optimize the expended resources, including water and energy;
- Management and minimization of waste generated and the refusal of the use in the process of construction of harmful materials for environment;
- Monitoring of environmental aspects to all the components of the environment: air, water, soils, including flora and fauna;
- Maintaining the readiness of technical means and teams for the prevention of abnormal and emergency situations or for adequate, planned actions in their occurrence;
- Training of workers in the company and the exchange of information at all levels: continuous improvement effect of the activities for the environment; increasing the competence of staff; right and clearly regulate responsibilities;
- Placement of the requirements in respect of environmental protection to suppliers, customers and other stakeholders;
- Progress of systems and mechanisms for the implementation, review and updating of this policy on the environment, making it available to the company staff, the public and any other interested parties.
- Commitment to periodic review of the environmental policy to ensure that it continues to be relevant to the organization.
- Commitment to continual improvement and prevention of pollution;
- Commitment to compliance with the applicable laws and other requirements to which the organization has accepted to perform and which relate to aspects of the environment.